Everything in one place

Collaborating with customers and colleagues should be social and rewarding. You don't need loads of different apps slowing you down.

We make it simple to stay connected with Microsoft Teams. We'll get you set up. So you can combine your instant messaging, video calling, virtual meetings, and link to cloud storage to collaborate, all on one platform. And because it's in the cloud, it's always there when you need it.

Access Microsoft Teams anywhere, including SharePoint and OneDrive²

See eye-to-eye with everyone

Meeting with colleagues and clients is part and parcel of running a successful business. Even if you're not in the same place.

With Microsoft Teams, video calling is secure wherever you are. So you can work together in real time, sharing screens and working on digital whiteboards.

We'll help you use Microsoft Teams so you can feel as if you're in the same room. Whether it's a one-to-one meeting. Delivering a sales pitch to several people. Or hosting a company-wide presentation.

Share and amend files live on-screen

Engage your audience

Digital events can save you time and money. Especially because you can share ideas and information to a much wider audience.

Our team will show you how to host your own virtual events on Microsoft Teams. That way, you can connect with audiences through webinars, broadcasts or full-on, all-day affairs.

So if you're talking with a small group. A 1000-strong webinar. Or even more with a broadcast. It's all easy to do on Microsoft Teams.

You can choose to record or transcribe the meeting. At the end of your meeting you can download the recording or transcription to share with others.

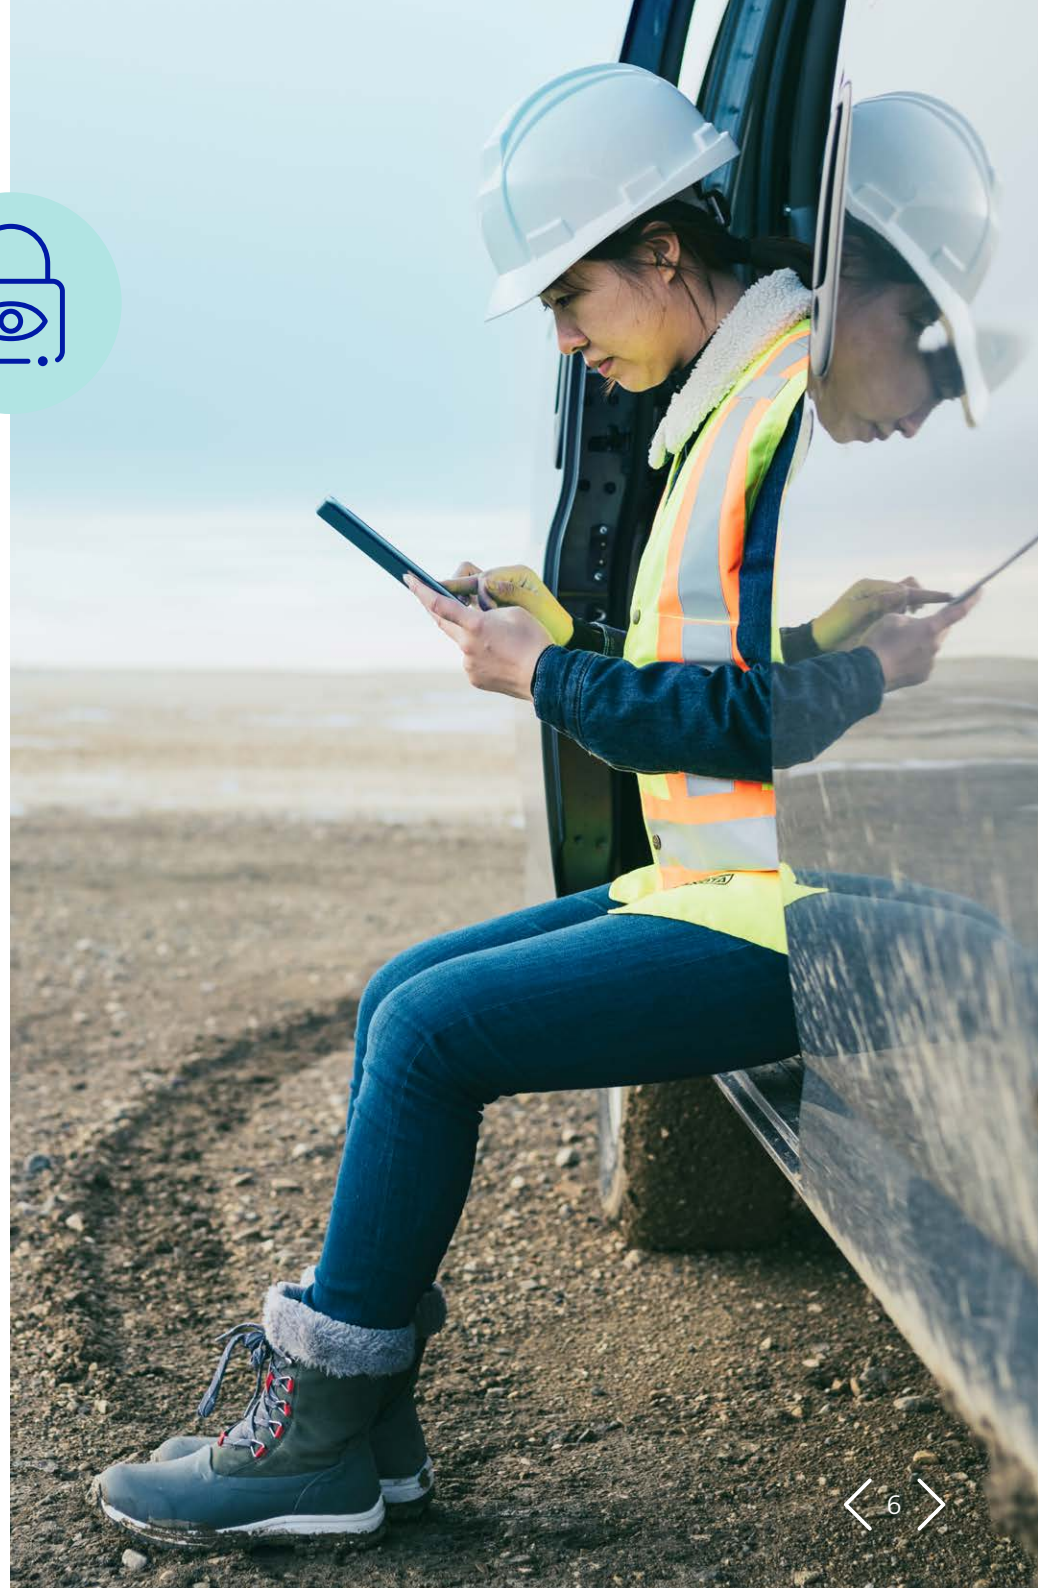

Keep it all safe and secure

From working together on a shared document to hosting a big meeting, you'll want peace of mind that everything is protected.

So we'll take you through how Microsoft Teams keeps everything (and everyone) secure online. The admin controls are nice and intuitive and it's easy to set up security policies¹.

Microsoft Teams makes sure that everyone in the organisation uses two-factor authentication. This means only your people have access to your data.

Get super simple admin controls

One of the things we've realised is by using Teams - and by using the apps - we've been able to be more productive in everything we've done. It's given us an opportunity to be more flexible in everything we've carried out. O2 were instrumental in providing us - very quickly - with those opportunities. To have the training to get us onboard and working quicker."

Storing data via OneDrive or SharePoint. Syncing calendars. Accessing or updating information across devices. The cloud is part of everyday business life now.

We'll take you through how the Microsoft Teams cloud-based system makes collaboration easy. Whether it's editing contact details or explaining how updates are synced automatically across email, calendar, chat, meetings and calling.

Use the whiteboard for live brainstorming
